HIGH IMPACT STRATEGIC/CORPORATE PLANNING WORKSHOP

COURSE OVERVIEW:

In today’s business environment, strategic planning and performance have never been more important. Yet research shows that many leaders and managers either don’t plan at all or lack the ability to develop the plans necessary to move their organizations from its current state to where they want it to be.

High Impact Strategic/Corporate Planning is about creating a preferred future for your organization. In this course, you will learn how to use a four-part strategic planning model used by thousands of business leaders to improve their organizational effectiveness. The model utilizes a three-year planning model developed by Dr. Vindel Kerr and supported by the Balanced Scorecard methodology developed by Kaplan and Norton (2001), and other important planning tools for ongoing performance management and evaluation. Specific references will be made to existing models used by successful Governments and private enterprises in their strategic/corporate planning approaches. Unfortunately, with no generally accepted and standardized approach in some institutions, a wide array of approaches can be found even within a single governmental domain.

Strategic performance management in which information on agency or program performance is used to assess government and private sector effectiveness and to hold managers accountable while managing for results, is now a globally relevant goal or function of most governmental and non-governmental organizations. This workshop will provide an overview of performance management systems, including their objectives, design, and basic components and requisites for effective functioning. In addition, through interactive discussions and case illustrations, workshop sessions will elucidate the practical details of how the set-up and implement a performance management system and its potential to improve efficiency and program or organizational performance.

Part 1: Strategic Formulation

During the Strategic Formulation Phase, leaders formulate the key components of their strategic plan by framing the Values, Vision, Mission, Goals, Objectives and Strategies of the Plan. It is also necessary to clarify any changes in the business and financial models needed to support the Vision over the next three years and longer.

Part 2: Strategic Development

The Strategic Development Phase begins with an assessment of the internal and external environments. It requires formal data gathering to determine the opportunities and threats facing the organization and the identification and clarification of target customers, clients, markets and stakeholders. It also involves an audit of the internal environment to identify strengths or weaknesses taking into consideration leadership style, skills, staffing, systems, structures, appropriate strategies and what shared vision is needed. Several strategic tools will be introduced and explored in assessing the internal and external environments.

Part 3: Strategic Implementation

While Strategic Formulation and Development are about strategic choices and alignment, Strategic Implementation is about making it work. One of the best ways to do this is with the Balanced Score Card Approach which allows you to establish and monitor strategic objectives in four business-critical areas; finances, customers, internal systems, and learning and growth. It also allows you to set up timelines and metrics in each area to measure progress.

Phase 4: Strategic Evaluation

The success of any strategic plan rises and falls on the organization's ability to continually evaluate progress and make adjustments. In this model, we use the Balanced Score Card approach to set up a 90-day evaluation program for each department, team, or business area in order to continually monitor progress and make the quality adjustments necessary to respond to both internal and external changes.

WHAT PARTICIPANTS WILL GAIN

During the Strategic Development phase, leaders formulate the key components of their strategic plan by framing up the vision, mission, values, goals, and strategic objectives of the plan. It is also necessary to clarify any changes in the business and financial models needed to support the vision over the next three years.
